Message to Members Regarding Strike Vote Results

Good day Friends,

As you may know, the last strike vote meeting was held in Yellowknife last week. The UNW is currently waiting for the last of the mail in ballots to come in.

As discussed at the strike vote meetings, the strike vote results may or may not be released to the general public. Once the votes are counted, the bargaining team will strategize on how and when to use the results. It may be made public, it may be saved for going into mediation, and it may not be released at all.

What happens now? The UNW bargaining team will meet in a few weeks to discuss strategy and next steps.

Rest assured, a strike will not happen without all bargaining avenues being completely exhausted first.

A BIG THANK YOU to all the members who participated and made their voices heard to the bargaining team. Stay tuned for more info in the coming weeks.

In solidarity,

Todd Parsons
UNW President
